Zutopia - Round 2 Beta Testing Update

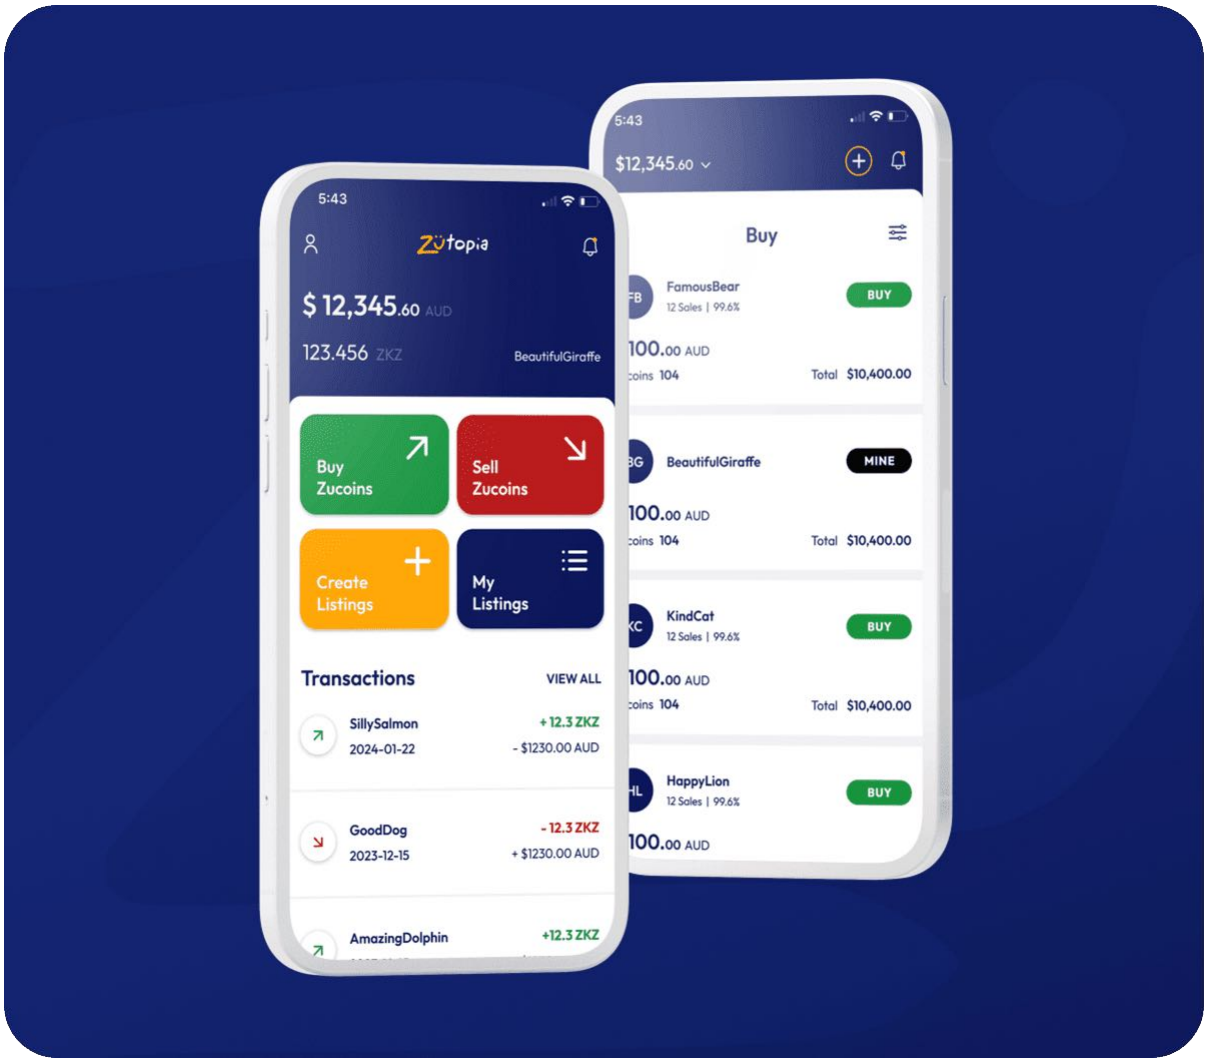
Round 2 of BETA testing commenced at 7:30pm on the 27th of February 2024.

Of the 251 testers we have received over 100 support tickets and for the most part the testers have reported similar issues. These issues have been passed onto the development team to be resolved.



What are we looking for?

During this round of testing we are simply wanting users to test and break as many parts of Zutopia as they can.

Issues found may only apply to certain phones or phones with specific operating system / versions. We need to ensure all issues are found and resolved.

We are sending email updates to testers of any significant changes. These changes may result in the testers needing to close their Zutopia apps, re-install Zutopia, create new listings or pause testing temporarily.

In upcoming rounds we will be testing transactions between Zutopia, a TEST Zucoins wallet and a TEST Splitchain environment.

Once successfully tested we will being test transactions between Zutopia and the payment processor.

For easy adoption and usability, we need users to operate Zutopia without the need of tutorials. For this reason, during testing we will NOT provide any tutorial videos or any documentation.
